The Speaker was Mr. Vishal Bhojani, Founder & Director of Magic Institute of Excellence. Mr. Bhojani explained in detail the concepts of Investment Banking and Hedge Fund. He added that Investment banks act as intermediaries between investors (who have money to invest) and corporations (who require capital to grow and run their businesses). For many people, hedge funds and investment banks are both terms that are synonymous with rich people, but the differences between the two are significant.

Further he said that a hedge fund manages a highly diverse investment portfolio that aims to generate outsized returns. Investors invest accordingly, then sell shares in their portfolios to third parties. They make money off their portfolios’ returns. An investment bank manages finances for their clients, helping companies raise capital and managing complex transactions for both buyers and sellers. They make money off fees they charge clients.

Mr. Bhojani also satisfactorily answered to all the questions asked by the students and cleared all their doubts.
